

THE OLYMPICS

once, this year all eyes will be on both Tom Petranoff and Bill Roggy who have both thrown 300 feet numerous times.

Americans have excelled in watersports for years, especially at the 1976 games in Montreal when they won 27 of 39 medals (12 of which were golds) and set 18 world records. Steve Lundquist, an 18-year-old, who became the first swimmer in history to swim the 200 yard short course breast stroke in under two minutes when he was 17, is looking for a 200 meter breast stroke medal. He is also a top-notch free-styler, just like gold medalists Buster Crabbe and Johnny (Tarzan) Weissmuller.

Greg Louganis, a 1976 platform diving silver medalist and world champion, is the only diver to ever register a perfect score of 10 at the 1982 Worlds and is looking for a medal in the Summer Olympics.

Team sports will see the women's basketball team yielding five players from the 1980 games including Cheryl Miller, a favorite 6'2" forward who last season averaged 20 points a game as a national champion USC Trojan member.
